4. Paul is the "surviving spouse" and therefore should receive proceeds from a wrongful death action that now is pending in this Court.

5. Certain provisions of Alabama law and the Alabama Constitution prevent this result, however.

the surviving spouse.

7. But Ala. Code § 30-1-19 ("Marriage Protection Act") and Ala. Const. Amend. No. 774

what the Sanctity Laws do: they single out same-sex marriages and deny to those marriages the same rights and dignity that Alabama affords other marriages.

Governor Bentley maintains, and has exercised, enforcement authority in connection with the Sanctity Laws. As an example, he announced in September 2013 that he would not permit the Alabama National Guard to provide benefits to same-sex spouses, despite a federal directive to do so. According to news reports, Governor Bentley stated: "When they're under my command we will obey Alabama state law." The Governor maintains an office and official residence in Montgomery. Governor Bentley is sued in his official capacity.

Ms. Donald therefore has an enforcement connection to the Sanctity Laws because she has the power to correct David Fancher's death certificate, which incorrectly indicates that David was "Never Married" at the time of his death, and that he had no surviving spouse. Ms. Donald is sued in her official capacity.

19. Steven L. Reed is the probate judge for the County of Montgomery. In Case No. 12-00288, the Probate Court of Montgomery County admitted David's will into the County record and issued Certified Letters Testamentary to Richard Lohr, II appointing him the Personal Representative of David's estate. Judge Reed has jurisdiction over certain matters related to David Fancher's estate, including the power to determine whether Paul is a surviving spouse for

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

21. David and Paul met on July 4th, 2004 for a first date. They became a couple soon thereafter. Throughout their time together, David occasionally asked Paul to marry him. Paul demurred at first, but Paul eventually, and enthusiastically, agreed to marry David and the couple was lawfully married on a beach on Cape Cod, in Massachusetts, on May 20, 2011. A copy of the marriage certificate is attached as Exhibit A.

22. The wedding ceremony featured a loving cup ceremony, adopted from their shared Scottish heritage. The cup is engraved with quotation from the Song of Solomon: "I am by beloved's and my beloved is mine." The tradition is to drink from the cup on the wedding day and on every anniversary, each drinking three times, to the love that was, the love that is, and the love that will be. 28. The complaint in the wrongful death case pending in this Court states that defendants in that case, truck drivers and a shipping company, were traveling North on Interstate 65 . . . in rural Autauga County, Alabama. Defendants' vehicle negligently and wantonly collided with another vehicle . . . causing Defendants' the name of the "Surviving Spouse." When Paul saw the inaccurate information, he asked that it be changed, but the funeral director refused. A copy of the Death Certificate, signed by Defendant Catherine M. Donald and registered with the State of Alabama, is attached as Exhibit B.

34. An action for wrongful death in Alabama has several unusual features. First, the only person who may bring an action for wrongful death is the administrator of the decedent's estate.

See Ala. Code § 6-5-410(a).

35. Second, the administrator must distribute any damages recovered pursuant to Alabama's that no provision of the U.S. Constitution would require a different result. See Ala. Op. Att'y Gen. 2000-129 (Ala. A.G. 2000).

Notwithstanding the Attorney General's opinion that the Marriage Protection Act 56. adequately protected Alabama from out-of-state same-sex unions, the legislature took additional action just years later to further safeguard Alabama from the specter of same-sex unions.

68. On information and belief, the Defendants apart from Lohr contend that these provisions are consistent with the U.S. Constitution.

69. On information and belief, Defendant Lohr takes no position on the constitutionality of the marriage restrictions, but understands that they preclude him from recognizing Paul as a "surviving spouse" or from distributing to Paul any proceeds from the wrongful death action resulting from their treating out-of-state marriages of all Alabama citizens equally. Granting injunctive relief will not disserve the public interest.

purposes under state law, including under the laws of intestate succession.

76. Solely because Plaintiff is gay and married a person of the same sex, the Sanctity Laws treat his marriage as a legal nullity, unconstitutionally creating a second-tier class of citizens and marriages.

77. Defendants' failure to recognize marriages of same-sex couples validly entered in other jurisdictions is unconstitutional under the Equal Protection Clause because it categorically denies
